

Teen Age: You Just Don't Understand

July 13, 2010

I have been invited to participate in a group exhibition later this summer.

Teen Age: You Just Don't Understand, at Catharine Clark Gallery, in San Francisco.

Curated by Ken Goldberg and Catharine Clark

August 28, 2010 to September 25, 2010.

There will be a reception on Saturday, September 4, from 3 to 6 pm.

This group show coincides with ZER01's 01SJ Biennial, Build Your Own World, highlighting art at the intersection of technology and culture. Teen Age: You Just Don't Understand considers the role of new media in newly emerging worldviews. Each project is a collaboration involving at least one teen and one adult.

Gh0st L1fe is a collaboration with Allison Reilly. These long exposure potraits of teenagers engaged in an electronic conciousness, through a monitor, are a document of the ghostly, sub human effects from prolonged exposure to this activity.